Ensemble's clock source may be set from Maestro, Logic Pro's Apogee Control Panel, or from OSX's Audio Midi Setup utility. When Ensemble is locked to an external source, Ensemble's sample rate is still determined by the selection in software. Thus, the sample rate of the external source must be manually set to match the software sample ...

The Apogee Ensemble is designed for the user looking for top of the line conversion inside of a audio interface. This will take up only a single space in a traditional rack space. UTILIZATION I don't find that using the Apogee Ensemble to be hard at all, as everything is pretty user friendly and straight ahead.
